CdO Fights for Planning

The Valle de Oro Planning Association has scheduled a public meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium at Monte Vista High school.

Roy Dieter, chairman of the group said the meeting is called because of dissatisfaction generated by the County community planning staff. He said it appeared that county staff members had all but eliminated the Valle de Oro Planning Association as a viable force in the development of the community.

Dieter said the county staff was expanded to include professional sociologists and economists. "These people," he said, "will be doing the planning for the community."

County staff members, he said, are making proposals to all identifiable groups in the Valle de Oro Planning Association's effectiveness to a minimum," he said.

Community planning, he said, is being taken out of the hands of planning groups and put into the control of professionals.

The latest development is the attempt to form a Community Resources Program that would accelerate the planning programs in most county communities, he said.

Lemon Grove, Lakeside, Valley Center, Rainbow, Fallbrook and San Diego programs are those being accelerated.

DISSATISFIED — Roy Dieter, president of the Valle de Oro Planning Association, says his group is disgruntled with professions (disciplines) added to County Planning staff.

the area has so many levels for planning that it can't be classified under one planning group," he said.

Rancho San Diego, a residential community of 18,000 homes is being developed in an area south and east of Casa de Oro. That has apparently thrown community guidelines established by Valle de Oro Planning Association out of whack.

At Friday's meeting members will re-examine the problems and establish plans to resolve them, Dieter said.

John A. Davis To Be Feted

Friends of John A. Davis—and they are legion—will honor him Friday at 7 p.m. at a dinner at El Cortez hotel.

Among his friends are 80,000 members and associates of the San Diego City and County YMCA Association and a considerable number of them are expected to participate in the ceremonies Friday.

Davis was a key influence in the '50s when YMCA development was at the critical stage, Myron Lewis, YMCA general director said. He was chairman of the committee that planned the merger of the County and City Associations. Following that came the development of the North Coast, Escondido, Heartland and South Bay YMCAs.

Founded Loan Firm
Davis is founder of Southland Savings and Loan which has since become the giant Imperial Savings Corp.

He was named La Mesa's Man of the Year in 1963. He has served as a member of the Republican State Central Committee and the Grand Jury. He was elected Lt. Governor of Div. 31, Kiwanis Club.

He is treasurer of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of California; a Shriner, and an honorary life member of the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce.

The Davis Dinner Committee includes Gordon Austin, Joe Drew, Al Gardner, Pat Hyndman, O. W. Todd, Jr., and Myron Lewis.

Three Issues Tuesday On Lemon Grove Ballot

Lemon Grove voters will decide on three issues in Tuesday's election.

All three issues have to do with parks and landscaping.

One issue (Prop. A) is unusual in that it will be a joint election and a joint venture (if successful) with the Encanto area of San Diego.

(See editorial this page for election critique)

The other two are strictly Lemon Grove issues.

But one of them is unusual, too.

If the joint issue passes, it will carry with it Prop. B. If Prop. A fails, Lemon Grove voters alone can pass or refuse Prop. B.

Prop. A asks a 29 cent tax rate for acquiring and upkeep parks in this area. Encanto is involved because the 18-acre proposed park straddles the City-County boundary at Encanto. Both the Lemon Grove and Encanto areas will be taxed for that park.

If Prop. A passes, it will include a 5½-acre park near Berry street.

If Prop. A fails, Lemon Grove voters will decide whether or not they want the 5½-acre park. The rate for that acquisition will be 13 cents for each $100 assessed valuation.

Prop. C is strictly a landscaping issue. The railway plaza between North and Gold will be landscaped and sprinklers will be installed. The center islands on Broadway between the College Grove off-ramp and Kempf st. will be landscaped and maintained. The cost of that will be 12 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation.

Costs Listed

The maximum costs for the various issues are:

Prop. A—$22.00 the first year and possibly less thereafter.

Prop. B—$7.50 the first year and possibly less thereafter.

Prop. C—$7.25 a year.

The reason for the complicated presentation of a rather simple election is this: When $41,000 was made available to Lemon Grove to use for a park

Room Fees To Rise At Grossmont April 1

Grossmont Hospital will increase room rates April 1 to cover current costs and to meet predicted costs of the hospital's new wing. The administration recommended that room rates be raised $3 — from $61 to $64 per day. The rate may be increased again after July 1.

Operating room charges will also be raised. The "additional time" rate, which covers the amount of time the patient spends in the operating room after the first hour of surgery, was increased $10 — from $10 to $20 for each 15 minutes. Surgery rates per first hour are $100 for major surgery, $80 for minor.

Ronald Dahlgren, hospital administrator, said the hospital will need $2.8 million by 1978 for completion of the new wing. These funds will be used to cover staff, equipment and supply costs. Presently the hospital has raised $1.3 million; the new rate increase, according to Dahlgren, will help furnish the rest.

George Hurst, a board member, said, "I think we ought to raise the prices more . . ."

Here is a comparison of the daily rates in this area. (Non-surgical hospitals are lower in price because they do not perform operations.)

1. Alvarado Community Hospital $70 per day
2. Grossmont Hospital $61 per day
3. El Cajon Hospital $73 per day
4. Foothill Medical Hospital (non-surgical) $40 per day
5. San Diego Convalescent (non-surgical) $25 per day

I'm not saying we should take advantage of people who are unfortunate enough to be in the hospital, but we should be comparable to other hospitals so we can reduce the tax rate in the future."

Postal Rates Rise March 2 $17,000 Fire Under Investigation

Postmaster Nate Hale reminded U. S. Postal Service customers that new postage rates will go into effect Saturday.

"Beginning March 2," Hale said, "first class mail will be 10 cent per ounce, airmail will be 13 cents and post cards eight cents."

The Postmaster also pointed out that mailers may purchase their new stamps by mail, saving time and a gasoline-consuming trip to the post office. These mail orders may be paid by check or money order. Stamps by mail order blanks are available at the Lemon Grove Post Office.

To assist the Post Service, the Lemon Grove Review is printing a public service notice containing a replica of the official order form. It will be honored by the Lemon Grove post office as official.

The average Lemon Grove citizen will be interested only in the first class and airmail rate changes noted above. Local businesses will be concerned as well by changes in the rates of other classes of mail.

Third class mail rates, mostly for advertising material, will rise by 1.3 cents per piece, putting the rate at 6.1 cents for each of the first 250,000 pieces mailed and 6.3 cents for each additional piece.

Fourth class mail rates, mainly used for parcel post, will increase an average of six per cent, depending on weight and distance.

$17,000 Fire Under Investigation

An extensive fire did $17,000 worth of damage to David Ford's apartment, 38875 King st. The fire which occurred Feb. 24, is still under investigation by the L. G. Fire Dept.

On another call, a child's hamper placed too close to a wall heater started a second Feb. 24 fire. The $250 blaze occurred at 1975 El Prado.

Firemen were called to 2648 Lester st., to extinguish a fire caused by an overheated light fixture, Feb. 21. Damage was estimated at $15.

John C. Ruche, 55, was taken to the hospital by the Fire Dept. first aid crew, Feb. 23.

The Lemon Grove Fire Dept. responded to five fire, and one first aid call during the week of Feb. 18-25.

Time Grows Short for Oil Firms

State Senator James R. Mills responded this week to a recent editorial in this newspaper regarding the gasoline crunch.

His communication included a report on an initiative campaign he was starting about the same time we were writing the editorial, and a copy of an editorial published in the SACRAMENTO BEE.

All of the material is reproduced here to indicate that wheels are turning to overcome what may be the biggest public shakedown since Al Capone.

From Senator Mills:

I very much agree with your opinions on Big Oil as expressed in "The Dimmer View" column of February 7 in the Lemon Grove Review and Spring Valley Bulletin. (Regarding excess profits of Big Oil).

I am sure you'd be interested in my attempts to qualify an initiative for the November ballot which would place oil corporations under regulation of the Public Utilities Commission while protecting the consumer and independent service station owners.

I've enclosed a copy of the initiative, a news release, PUC regulations, Mills said, which you have probably already seen, and an editorial in support of the initiative from the Sacramento Bee. Again, I believe your comments are on target!

Sincerely yours,
State Senator
James R. Mills
President Pro Tem.

P.S. I've also put in a resolution urging Congress to repeal winter Daylight Savings Time.

Mills Urges PUC Control For Oil Firms

SACRAMENTO — Senate President pro Tempore James R. Mills (D-San Diego) has taken the first step toward government regulation of petroleum resources.

In a capitol news conference, the Senate leader unveiled his plans to spearhead a statewide initiative campaign to have the state's Public Utilities Commission (PUC) regulate petroleum corporations.

The initiative requires 325,504 signatures to qualify for the November ballot.

Citing constitutional authority which would allow placing petroleum corporations under PUC regulations, Mills said, "Petroleum is one of our greatest, and least managed, natural resources. No other resource is allowed to be exploited or manipulated as much as oil without the consent of the people.

A major feature of the Mills initiative is that oil corporations would have to justify price increases to the PUC.

Mills said his initiative would help:

- Prevent oil corporations from receiving windfall profits.
- Protect against skyrocketing gasoline prices.
- Provide government the formation it needs to predict shortages and take steps to prevent them.
- Encourage development of new petroleum resources.
- Spur a continuous and reliable supply of gasoline to service stations.
- Allow dealers a means of filing grievances against suppliers.
- Prevent massive service station closures.

From the SACRAMENTO BEE, February 11

Give the Public More Controls Over Free-Wheeling Oil Barons

One of the soundest, constructive proposals for dealing with the present crisis—and to help prevent its recurrence—is the push by State Sen.

James R. Mills, D-San Diego, president pro tem of the Senate, to place the petroleum industry under the control of the State Public Utilities Commission.

The wisdom and desirability of such a move is starkly self-evident. Petroleum and its by-products form the very base of our industrial society. Yet this economic autocracy has operated largely as a law unto itself, removed from public interest and control.

In Mills' words: "Petroleum is one of our greatest and least managed, natural resources. No other resource is allowed to be exploited or manipulated as much as oil without the consent of the people."

Under Mills' plan, if the oil industry were placed under PUC control, it would no longer be able to raise prices unilaterally. All price hikes would have to be justified to the PUC just as is now required of railroads, airlines, truck and bus companies and suppliers of gas, electricity and water.

What could be more eminently sensible? If Mills succeeds in his proposal, the result could be a blazing silver lining to shed needed light on the presently murky land- scape of the energy problem. Mills' idea echoes national proposals for sterner federal regulation of the petroleum industry, including ideas for establishing governmentally-controlled oil production systems comparable to the price and distribution yardstick provided by the Tennessee Valley Authority for the generation of electric power, whose success has attracted worldwide attention and admiration.

Mills said what has needed saying for a long time: "Currently the people are at the mercy of oil companies who feel that what is good for them is good for the country. They have willfully disregarded subpoenas and have even, though contractually obligated, balked at supplying gasoline for state needs."

Considering the fundamental importance and far-reaching impact of the oil industry's role upon the economy, this nation no longer can permit the oil companies to maintain their autonomy at the crossroads of industry.

Mills' proposed initiative needs only 325,504 signatures to qualify it for the November ballot. There should be a concerted statewide campaign to get the signatures and let the public put the PUC har- ness on this basic wheelhorse of our industrial foundation—controlled oil production sys-

Tuesday's Ballot Confusing

Residents in Lemon Grove and in the Encanto area of the City of San Diego, will vote jointly Tuesday on a local park issue.

There will be three such issues on the Lemon Grove ballot; one on Encanto's.

The first ballot issue is Prop. A. What makes it unusual is that a segment of the county (Lemon Grove) and a portion of the City of San Diego (Encanto and the Broadway Heights area) will vote to jointly buy and operate an 18 acre park that straddles the county-city boundary south of San Miguel and west of Massachusetts.

It is a case of reverse annexation—with a city area annexing to a county district, but without giving up any of the city services it now enjoys.

Prop. A, listed as "County Area No. 52, Encanto Annexation" asks that residents of the joint districts to approve the purchase of park land. The cost of the property, estimated to be more than $160,000.00 would be spread over all of Lemon Grove and residents in a 290-acre area in San Diego, roughly south of Federal and McArthur west of 69th; north of Klauber and Elder sts. and east of Winnett.

The 29 cent rate will raise approximately $103,000 but proponents claim the rate will reduce somewhat after the first year. Built into this proposition is a 5½ acre Lemon Grove park described below in Prop. B. If Prop. A passes, there will be the Encanto and Lemon Grove parks. If Prop. A fails, Lemon Grove voters will have a park opportunity as described in Prop. B.

Part of the park area had been planned as a high-density development. Proponents of the issue claim that providing public services, such as streets and schools, to a residential development would be as costly as buying and operating the park. Since part of the area is in Lemon Grove, it will be easily accessible to local residents.

The park will be preserved in its natural state and its hills and gulleys will lend themselves to back-to-nature recreation.

The cost is not cheap. It'll show up as about $22 a year on the tax bill—the maximum using a tax rate of 29 cents for each $100 valuation and an estimate based on homes averaging $30,000 cash value. The money would "buy, develop and maintain local parks and provide landscape maintenance." All three ballot issues are big on landscaping.

A majority (50%) of those voting is required to pass it and get it on the tax bill. A majority of voters in both city and county areas is needed. One fails, both fail.

The second issue, Prop. B, on Tuesday's ballot is strictly for Lemon Grove residents. This one is for approval to purchase 5½ acres of land for park use. This one is entirely in Lemon Grove in an area bounded by Mt. Vernon, Madera, Berry and Massachusetts. Proponents say Housing and Urban Development (HUD) had earmarked $41,117 to be used in the purchase but the funds will probably be lost if the park issue fails.

The property will cost about $74,000 in addition to the HUD money. The cost is based on an estimate made two years ago. It will be higher now.

This, too, is an unusual issue. This one will provide a smaller park if the larger one described in Prop. A fails. It will be in Lemon Grove and the tax laid on Lemon Grove property. It is a sort of community park stop-gap.

An argument for its passage is that Lemon Grove with one park of 17½ acres provides less than one acre of parkland for each 1,000 residents. Recommended is five acres a thousand population.

The cost of this issue is about one-third of Prop. A. Based on a maximum tax rate of 13 cents for each $100 of value, it would cost the average homeowner $7.50 a year. County estimates the average home at $30,000. 13 cents on the Lemon Grove tax rate will produce about $44,000 a year. The rate should decrease after the first year, it was said.

Another issue, Prop. C, is also for Lemon Grove residents only. It would establish a 12 cent tax rate for landscaping various areas. It envisions plantings in the center-islands along Broadway from the College Grove off-ramp to Kempf street. The plaza area on the railroad right-of-way would have sprinklers installed in the area from Golden ave. to North st. Perpetual maintenance for that and any other area that can be accommodated by the tax rate will cost the average ($30,000) homeowners $7.25 annually. A ceiling of 12 cents is on it. Twelve cents should raise about $40,000 a year.

Much of this information came to local voters with their sample ballot—if they can understand it. Some of the arguments are inaccurate. "Impartial Analysis" by the San Diego Local Formation Commission (LAFCO) leaves much unexplained. If LAFCO wrote for a private enterprise it would be fired, out of hand, for shoddy research.

Also, not explained by anyone, is the limit of the park districts. When does the district stop acquiring parks? Does it plan to provide five parks as suggested by county government?

If the Board of Supervisors follows LAFCO's future recommendations and LAFCO does its homework no better than it apparently has on its "Impartial Analysis", only unrest and chaos among taxpayers can result.

This column is a firm believer in parks as a good investment of taxpayers' money, but let's demand more expert and precise information with our ballots or demand the resignation of the people who perpetuated the flatulent composition that neither informs nor guides.

There IS Profit in Oil

For those of you who are in doubt as to whether oil firms are cutting a fat hog, let me quote, verbatim, from a report which came from Reserve Oil and Gas Company. The firm is listed on both the American and Pacific Stock exchanges.

Consolidated Operating Results—Three Months Ending Dec. 31.
	1973	1972
Gross Revenues	$162,820,000	$86,695,000
Net Income	$ 5,263,000	$ 1,293,000
Income, per share	.42	.11

Editor's note: Sales up nearly twice; profit up nearly four times.

A cover letter, with the report reads: "Reserve Oil and Gas Company, headquartered in Los Angeles, is active in oil and gas exploration and development; refining and marketing petroleum products; purchasing, gathering, transporting and marketing crude oil; and land development and warehouse leasing."

Arthritis Big Business:

Hope Peddlers Exploit Pain and Frustration

Two women are talking in a Lemon Grove laundromat. It is overcast outside and raining lightly.

One of the women is in her late sixties, the other in her twenties.

The older woman complains that this type of weather always effects her arthritic elbow making her stiff and uncomfortable. She adds that if she takes some aspirin when she gets home she will feel better.

The younger woman says she wishes arthritis was that simple. Her mother, who is only forty, has been confined to a wheelchair with arthritis. She explains the various drugs her mother has tried and some of their bad side effects. She describes how recent surgery has enabled her mother to walk again.

Most Americans have heard of arthritis. They know someone, usually an older person, who complains of stiffness and may have the swollen joints that make movement difficult. Television aspirin commercials aim their pitch at these sufferers.

Unfortunately this is the mildest form of arthritis. Few people realize that there are other, much severer forms of the disease. Rheumatoid arthritis affects 5 million Americans, adults and children. It is extremely painful and can totally cripple the body. A chronic disease, this form of arthritis has no cure.

Treatment Helps

According to the Arthritis Foundation there are various treatments for arthritis. Exercise, heat, drugs and surgery all offer some relief. Drugs like cortisone can provide almost miraculous mobility but have serious side effects. Gold treatments are helpful, but are toxic and must be given carefully. Surgery can do wonders but should be performed before the disease has done much damage.

For some arthritics treatment is not enough. They search for the doctor who has the "miracle" cure that will give them total relief. Arthritis has prevented them from working. Many healthy people they know dismiss the disease, treating it lightly. "Oh it's only arthritis, take a couple of aspirin you'll be fine." These people are angry, confused and desperate.

These sufferers make perfect targets for quacks. Their desperation and impatience is easily turned into profit by those who would exploit them. Many fall victim to "arthritis clinics" located in Mexican border towns.

Americans from throughout the U. S. make the long expensive journey to Mexico to seek the "magic" cure. Many of these clinics are located in Mexicali, across the Texas border. One is closer to home, Food and Drug investigator, William Leckwold says a large overnight clinic operates in Tecate.

No Magic Cures

Tragically these clinics have no magic cure for arthritis. Operated by mysterious doctors who shun publicity, they usually dispense the same drugs American doctors do. Often what they describe as "Indian herbs" are powerful steroids or cortisone. There is extreme danger in this form of deception.

Many Americans who have managed to overcome the addiction to cortisone, or who are allergic to it, become seriously ill in Mexico with no real medical help available. Leckwold, reports that Americans often bring him their Mexican prescriptions, that cost hundreds of dollars, for chemical analysis, only to find they are the same drugs that are available in the U.S. The FDA has also found that arthritis clinics in Mexico are prescribing DMSO, a drug not proven safe or effective. A Peek Behind Bamboo Curtain

The series titled "Asiatic Woo or Flu?" presented by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services, will continue when Part II of "An Evening in China" is presented at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 5 in Sears Community Room, El Cajon. This program will be repeated at the College Grove Shopping Center Community Hall at 2 and 7:30 p.m., Thursday, March 7.

"An Evening in China," with Dr. Irene Cheng speaking and providing the film commentary, is designed to raise the bamboo curtain and dissolve some of the complexities and misunderstandings surrounding China. Dr. Cheng, who has lived and worked in both Hong Kong and the Chinese mainland, has a unique knowledge of what goes on behind the headlines in Asia.

The public is invited to this new documentary film-lecture series. There is no charge for admission.

would also says Mexicans "peddle like candy" a powerful anti-inflammatory drug, American doctors use only in life and death emergencies.

There are no magic cures for arthritis. The Arthritis Foundation has been doing intensive research of the disease and reports real progress. There still exists hope for a cure for the disease. Arthritis should carefully consider the financial and medical risks before they seek miracle cures from those that would exploit their pain.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Vale de Oro Planning Association is recognized by the Board of Supervisors as the Official Citizens' Planning Committee for the Valle de Oro Planning Area (Spring Valley, La Presa, Casa de Oro, Mt. Helix, Jamacha).

In an era when land use decisions seem to be moving further and further away from the people affected, there is going to be an unusual opportunity for the residents of a community to participate directly in these decisions. On March 1, at 7:30 p.m., in the Monte Vista High School Gymnasium, the Valle de Oro Planning Association will be holding a Community Meeting for the public presentation and election to adopt Planning Goals, which have taken 18 months to prepare.

These Goals are the most important step of community planning prior to actual development of the Community Plan.

Now is the time for the general citizenship of the community to turn out and give their approval or disapproval of these goals. If people are apathetic about this meeting, they will be letting others make THEIR decision for them. If so, what right will they have to complain later if the Community Plan isn't to their liking?

Thank You,
James K. Baker
Member, Valle de Oro Planning Assoc.

Dear Editor:

If you believe that the County Planning Department knows best and that "you can't fight City Hall", skip this letter.

On the other hand, if you believe that in a democracy every vote counts and that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty", please make an effort to support us.

Over 3500 residents of our Valle de Oro took time and effort to answer the 79 items of our questionnaire. On the basis of those replies the goals, such as industrial, tax and financial, park and recreation, etc. were prepared. These will be presented at a public meeting to be held on Friday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Monte Vista High School gym.

A British statesman once remarked that the only thing needed for evil to flourish was for good men to do nothing. Join us on March 1.

LG Hosts Needed For Europe Teachers

Lemon Grove families are needed to entertain English-speaking European teachers as guests in their homes for a one or two week period this summer.

According to J. Stuart Perkins, Board Chairman of the American Host Program, American Host is one of the few non-governmental programs designed to show the American way-of-life to foreign teachers, by pairing them with American families.

Now in its twelfth year, American Host has opened doors to better understanding for more than 5,000 European teachers who have passed on their new understanding of America to their students, colleagues and friends.

Perkins said that being a "Host Family" is open to anyone who has the desire to increase understanding and friendship between Americans and Europeans. Host Families are required to provide a private room, meals for their guest, the opportunity to meet their friends, neighbors and perhaps fellow teachers and to see some of the points of interest in the area.

American Host arranges all transportation. Host Families are asked to meet their guest upon arrival in their area. Teachers and Host Families have an opportunity to correspond for at least a month before meeting.

Arrangements for participating as a Host Family can be made by writing to: The American Host Program, Hotel Commodore, Suite 2100 New York, New York 10017.

"Where You Find God's Love thru People Who Care"

QUEEN — Miss Lemon Grove, Suzanne Pickard, discusses plans for the 1974-75 queen contest with John Factor, chairman of the event.

Plans Readied For 1974-1975 Miss Lemon Grove Contest

The emphasis is on girls at Factor's VW, 6955 Broadway and information may be obtained from his at 462-2500. Every year about this time the Lemon Grove Rotary club begins its search for the loveliest young lady in the Lemon Grove area — a beauty who may reign as Fairest of the Fair this year.

Current Lemon Grove Queen is Suzanne Pickard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pickard of 1324 Brad-dock st. Suzanne succeeded Barbara Kotnik, last year's queen. That contest was held in the Lemon Grove Junior High School auditorium — the same place this year's contest will be held.

Rotary club president Bob Guest named John Factor, local auto dealer, to be chair-man of this year's event. It will be held May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. This year, Factor said, there will be considerably more entertainment. The "famed vaudeville team" of Fessler and Smith will headline the show with a Dixieland band to back them up. Actually, the two are local medical doctors — Drs. Sam Smith and Myron Fessler of the L.G. Medical group. The band is comprised of doctors who would prob-ably have been professional musicians if they had not chosen medicine.

Applications are now being accepted for the 1974-75 con-test. Contestant must be be-tween 17 and 21 years of age, according to Factor. Applica-tion blanks will be available

"Drugs: Who is the Abuser?" will be the subject of the Spring Valley Junior High School Parent Education Meeting sponsored by the PTA. It will be held February 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the cafe-terium of the school located at 3900 Conrad drive.

Ralph Forquera, from DE-FY (Drug Education For Youth) and Tom Whitting-ham, Deputy, San Diego County Sheriff's Department will answer questions con-cerning drugs (pills, alcohol, marijuana, heroin, etc.).

All interested members of the community are invited to attend. Child care will be pro-vided. Any questions concern-ing the program can be an-swered by Parent Education Chairman, Mrs. William Brei-denstein, 465-4206.

Sen. John Stull Feted 'Americana' Costume Ball

An "early Americana" ball honoring State Senator John Stull attracted more than 400 celebrants Friday night at the Royal Inn at the Wharf.

It was a $75-a-plate affair with an exception — it was speechless. It raised about $20,000 for Senator Stull's coming campaign for re-elec-tion. Stull is opposed for re-election by Jonnie Stahl, a La Jolla teacher. Stull foresees a "tough" race, but few of the celebrants did. The Stull-Stahl name identification may be the reason for his concern.

It was a costume ball and you couldn't tell one George Washington from another. There were probably more Marthas Washingtons under one roof than ever before at the Inn's Convention Center. Who would doubt that at

Rotary Sponsors Miss Spring Valley

The Spring Valley Rotary will sponsor the Miss Spring Valley contest again this year. Dr. Herman Rauch, the chair-man of the event, said the kick-off date is March 20th. The contest, which is a step-ping stone to the annual "Fairest of the Fair" com-petition, already has an inter-ested contestant. Sharon Meyer, a Mt. Miguel senior has indicated her intention to run.

William Wagner, an associ-ate of the Roche Laboratories of New Jersey, will be the featured speaker at the week-ly Rotary meeting, March 1st. His subject will be "The High Cost of Drugs". Starting at 12:10 p.m., the luncheon meet-ing will be held at the Ox Bow Inn, Campo rd.

Home Guide Insures Safety

Preventive measures to pro-tect your home from burglary and fire and to protect your-self from home accidents are outlined in a free "Guide to Home and Personal Security" prepared for persons in the 50-plus age group by Action for Independent Maturity (AIM).

Noting the increasing rate of home burglaries, particu-larly in the suburbs, the Guide points out that burglars tend to look for "easy pick-ings." By providing basic in-formation on locks, lights, burglar alarms and automatic timers, the Guide can help "make your home a more dif-ficult and unattractive target for thieves."

The greatest threat to life and well-being in the home is the common home accident, according to the Guide, particu-larly accidents caused by the careless handling and mis-use of electrical appliances. A checklist designed to help you check safety standards around the home and "think safety" is included.

In a section on fire preven-tion, the Guide points out that most home fires can be pre-vented if families are aware of "principle risk" areas in the house and of how to safe-guard them.

The Guide to Home and Personal Safety is one of a series of booklets published by AIM to help pre-retirees plan for successful living in their mature years. A division of the six-million-member American Association of Re-tired Persons, AIM also pro-vides budget-stretching insur-ance, pharmacy and travel services and publishes Dyna-mic Maturity magazine by-monthly.

Van Deerlin's TV Bill OK'd by House Committee

More than 700 of the nation's commercial television stations still face possible loss of their federal operating licenses if they fail to serve the public, as the result of actions by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

A bill continuing existing ground rules for challenges to broadcast license holders was approved last Thursday by the House Communications subcommittee.

Van Deerlin, a subcommittee member, said he is pleased the legislation "recognizes the public should have some voice in how these enormously valuable TV channels are allocated."

The National Association of Broadcasters originally had proposed, in effect, that licenses be automatically renewed if stations violate no laws and meet minimal performance standards.

After months of debate last year, Van Deerlin succeeded in getting the panel to tentatively adopt an amendment that would have directed the Federal Communications Commission to take away a license if a rival group could provide "superior service."

"I just didn't want competing applications automatically turned aside no matter how meritorious," the San Diegoan said.

Compromise Plan

Under a compromise plan agreed to this week by the subcommittee, the FCC would retain discretionary authority to transfer licenses.

The bill, which is expected to be considered by the full House Commerce Committee within two weeks, also would extend the term of a broadcast license from three to four years — a change sought by the broadcasters.

Van Deerlin, a former television newsman, said he had no desire to "harm legitimate broadcasters who are playing constructive roles in their communities."

Rather, he has in mind "the few bad apples that spoil the barrel if they are not removed."

A few years ago, he recalled, a TV station in Jackson, Miss., was allowed to stay on the air after it used racial epithets and arbitrarily cut out portions of network programs disliked by its management. It took a court order to get the license rescinded.

The Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, a CHAD agency, provides major support for the CF clinic at University Hospital where children afflicted with the chronic lung-damaging disease are diagnosed and treated.

Sex in Basketball

Alex Hannum, the coach, general manager and president of the Denver Rockets, recently received a complaint filed through the Colorado Civil Rights Commission alleging "discrimination based on sex."

The Rockets held a promotion offering all women attending a December 9 game a free seat cushion.

"We realize your intent was one of courtesy," wrote Ms. Sharon Hill, investigator for the commission, "but you have nursed one (sex) and forgotten the other. I would recommend that you either give all spectators cushions or not give them at all. I hope this letter gives you a little more insight into the current sex discrimination laws."

It apparently did affect Hannum's thinking. The Rockets, earlier this month, held another promotion in which they gave out seat cushions to men only.

USD Baseball Squad Off For A-P Tourney

USD's baseball squad, with a three-won, three-lost record after six 1974 appearances, takes to the road for four consecutive outings before returning to its home field.

The Toreros participate in the Azusa-Pacific Tournament, Friday and Saturday, for three of those contests and then travel cross-town to battle UC San Diego, Mar. 8. USD was to start this week's action with a Tuesday home game against US International University.

Stricter Enforcement For Fly Control Law

Stricter enforcement of the county's fly control ordinance was ordered by the Public Health Department. The decision followed a series of complaints by the neighbors of an El Cajon poultry ranch.

The new enforcement program will be aimed at areas with the most serious problem. Dr. J. B. Askew, county health director, stated that in one case 31 inspections were made and four notices to reduce the flies were presented, with no improvement.

TAX ANSWERS

F. S. Schmidt, DISTRICT DIRECTOR, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My auto insurance will pay for the medical care of all persons injured in my car. Can I deduct the portion of the premium attributable to medical insurance as a medical expense?

A. No. The portion of the premium stated as medical insurance is not deductible as a medical expense since the medical portion of the insurance pays for medical care of persons other than the taxpayer, his spouse and dependents and the portion attributable to the taxpayer and his or her family is not separately stated.

Q. What kind of deductions can homeowners take?

A. The primary deductions taken by homeowners are interest paid on a mortgage, real estate taxes, utility taxes imposed at the same rate as the general sales tax, and unreimbursed casualty losses in excess of $100 per casualty. If you use your home for business purposes, you can deduct a pro rata portion of your maintenance and depreciation expenses, home insurance including fire and mortgage insurance, the wages of domestic help and repair expenses. Whether you use your home for business or not, you cannot deduct improvements (as opposed to repairs) or assessments for local benefits that tend to increase the value of your property. There must be added to the basis of your property, to be taken into account in the event you sell your home.

For more details, see IRS Publication 530, "Tax Information on Deductions for Homeowners." Use the order blank on your Form 1040 package to get a free copy.

Q. Can a taxpayer check off $1 of his tax money to go to a specific party?

A. No. Because of a recent change in the law, tax dollars cannot be designated to specific parties. However, you can check off $1 ($2 if married filing jointly) to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund, which will be distributed among eligible candidates. If you did not check off in 1972, you can still do so for 1972 on your 1973 return. Remember, checking off tax dollars to the Fund will not affect your tax liability and will not reduce any refund you may have coming.

Q. Do political candidates have to report income from political contributions?

A. Yes, if the candidate has income from political contributions, such as interest on bank deposits, dividends on contributed securities, and net gains on the sale of securities contributed after October 3, 1972. Political campaign contributions received by a candidate and used for campaign purposes are not taxable to the candidate, and campaign expenses are not deductible.

If a candidate has income to report, he should use Form 1041, U. S. Fiduciary Income Tax Return, available at any IRS office. Returns for 1972 and 1973 are due April 15, 1974. In hardship cases, the IRS will make appropriate arrangements for deferring payment of tax due, and up to six month extensions will be granted for filing 1973 returns and paying the tax that may be due.

Q. I received an estimated tax forms package in the mail. Do I have to file the Form 1040-ES?

A. Whether you are required to file a declaration of estimated tax for 1974 depends upon how much you estimate your taxable income will be and how much of it you estimate will be subject to withholding tax. You must file a Form 1040-ES if your estimated tax is $100 or more and 1) your estimated gross income for 1974 includes more than $500 in income not subject to withholding, or 2) one of the following situations applies:

You are a single person, head of household, or surviving widow (or widower) and your estimated gross income exceeds $20,000; You are married and entitled to file a joint declaration, your wife (husband) has received no wages, and your estimated gross income exceeds $20,000; You are married and entitled to file a joint declaration, both you and your wife (husband) receive wages for the tax year, and estimated individual gross income exceeds $10,000; You are married but not entitled to file a joint declaration and your own estimated gross income exceeds $5,000.

Cal-Vet Loans Top $219 Million

"Cal-Vet loaned $219 million to 9,992 veterans in 1973," Vet loans can be obtained by David A. Leslie, Veterans Service Officer reported this Farm and Home Loan Office week. "An additional $126 million will be loaned by June 1974," he said.

The Vietnam veteran receives 79% of the loans. His predominant age group (89%) is age 23-24. Disposable monthly family income falls between $500 and $1,099 for 88% of the new Vietnam veteran loan holders.

"Cal-Vet loans go 40% for new construction, which is defined as a home built within the past 12 months." He continued, "These sums represent an enormous stimulus to the economy — to labor, home builders, building material suppliers, home furnishing outlets and the real estate industry."

Statistics received from the State Department of Veterans Affairs show that 830 Cal-Vet loans were made in San Diego County in 1973 amounting to a total value of $18,763,100.

State Track Team Travels

The second weekend of the 1974 track season will find the San Diego State team entered in the Long Beach Relays Friday and Saturday at Long Beach State.

Aztec track coach Dick Hill was undecided as to what teams and individuals would run in the meet, but it is expected the 440 and mile relay team will run.

Last week in a non-scoring quadrangular meet at UC Irvine, the 440 relay team of Keith Denson, Harold Williams, Jim Redd and Steve Williams ran a school record of 40.8 to nip USC's team. Tom Wheeler's winning time of 14:17.6 in the 3-mile, Don Tyler's 48.3 in the 440, Alex Ray's 24:5½ long jump and Mark Ables' 53.2 in the 440 intermediate hurdles.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Look out folks, here it comes, a crash of thunder and a roll of drums. Baseball's version of Solomon, the Wise, his honor Bowie Kuhn, has once again opened his pearly whites and promptly lodged his boot.

Well, when you see Atlanta in the west and Chicago and St. Louis in the east, one begins to wonder about the guy running the train.

Bowie Kuhn. Remember him? He was the dandy that paraded around the Oakland outfield a couple of World Series ago in a deluge that made the rains of Noah's time seem like a spring drizzle. After 20 minutes or so of prime TV time, and while standing knee deep in surface water and soaked to the marrow, Kuhn finally conceded that, yes indeed, it was in fact raining, and the game at hand would have to be put off a day.

Whit tremendous grasp of situation. He could have got pneumonia.

Kuhn is also the guy who tried to hustle the Padres to Washington in a peace-making gesture to the bandits occupying the halls of Congress these days. Only the miracle of hamburger, a whole Kroc full of it, saved the Padres for Mission Valley.

But that's all in the past. Right? Even a klutz like Kuhn should be forgiven his mistakes. Right? His problems are much great. Right?

After all, he must make the decision of who is to throw out the first ball, when umpires may and may not shift from summer to winter uniforms, and whether it is in fact raining at (a) All-Star, (b) playoff and (c) World Series games. It may not be much, but for a man of Kuhn's abilities, it's about all he can handle without taking off his shoes.

It makes one wonder, then, about this latest deal. Kuhn has taken it upon himself to write the Atlanta Braves lineup for Eddie Mathews and his owner, Bill Bartholomay.

That kind of thinking is what led George Armstrong to charge those funny looking cats in the buffalo robes and feathers. It's called chutzpah.

Now everybody in this world and the city of Philadelphia knows that Handsome Henry Aaron is one sock away from equaling Babe Ruth's home run mark.

Hammering Hank, to this point in time, has belted 713 career homers. Ruth quit at 714. So, it stands to reason, the next couple of Henry's homers are of considerable interest to those who follow horsehide and willow warfare.

With a whole winter to savor the glories soon to be claimed by the Hammer, even a fool would expect base- baseball moguls to schedule Atlanta at home for a lengthy season opening series.

Ever since he tee'd off on number one hit off of Vic Raschi back in April 23, 1954, Aaron has been swinging for this date, the magic day he moves out in front of the all time.

But baseball, being the tool of imperfect men and inept commissioners, scheduled Atlanta to open in Cin- cinnati. Aaron's mark was to become Red fan's property.

And so it came to pass that the brain trust of the Braves, Bartholomay, Mathews and company, decided to "rest" Bad Henry until he could play in the "warmer weather" of Atlanta Stadium and the Georgia country- side.

But again Kuhn chewed on his galoshes. He pointed fingers and charged bad faith at Bartholomay for saving Henry for the home folks. He even got a bunch of gull- ible prose and press guys to cry "foul" at Big Bart for his parochial approach to the game.

Shame on ya, guys. Bad Henry will clout homers in nearly every park in the National League this year. And each one will be a record. But don't you think his home crowd ought to have the chance to see number one? They pay his salary.

Why, if baseball had a "real" commissioner, he'd think so. I mean if he was really interested in the "good of the game." But what what can you do with a bunch bums who think Atlanta belongs in the west.

I mean man, it's sompin' to think about. It would never happen if he was a Met.

Two Olympians To Coach USIU

Two former Olympic team members, Jean-Louis Ravelomanantsoa of the Magalasy Republic and Tracy Smith of the United States, will serve as assistant track coaches this year at United States Interna- tional University.

"We are very fortunate to have the services of these two fine athletes," Head Coach Jim Crakes said. "We are in a rebuilding year, and we have a lot to do in preparation.

Ravelomanantsoa, who com- peted in the 1964, 1968, and 1972 Olympics, is pursuing a Masters Degree in Interna- tional Business while Smith is seeking a teaching credential from the School of Education.

Ravelomanantsoa, who was the No. 2 ranked sprinter in the World in 1971 behind Rus- sia's Valeri Borzhov, set the world record of 5.9 in the 1971 under an act of Congress in NAIA indoor meet and won 1907.

Hedgemon Lewis, Top Ranked Welterweight On Friday Fight Card

Hedgemon Lewis

Number 1-rated welter- weight Hedgemon Lewis will show his abilities here Friday.

He'll match punches with Jose "Portrillo" Miranda. Por- trillo means "Little Horse" in Spanish. The appellation car- ries with it a 32-4-2 record.

But Lewis is something else. His "1" rating comes from his victory over Billy Backus in December.

Lewis, with a 50-4 ring re- cord, is trying to get an ap- pointment with Jose Napoles, present champion. Chances are that he will be the next welterweight champion with or without the cooperation of Napoles.

Lewis is a stylist, according to Mickey Davies, matchmak- er/promoter of the Coliseum in San Diego, where unde- cided fistic positions are re-

Outdoor Relays Booked for April

The Fifteenth Annual San Diego Relays will once again be held at Balboa Stadium on April 13, starting at 9 a.m.

Presented by the San Diego Track Club, it is the only open outdoor meet in which local athletes are able to test them- selves against class athletes from other areas.

From invitational events with world-class athletes through the junior high school races, more than 60 competi- tions offer something for all classes of track and field ath- letes.

Along with open and uni- versity classifications, there are junior college, high school, womens' and masters events.

Co-meet directors Ken Ber- nard and Tom Horner expect improved fields in the invita- tional and open university this year, and more than 500 ath- letes are expected to compete.

"At this time of year, auto racing is always a series of question marks," Unser says. "The difference this year is that the question marks are bigger.

Practice runs are being held this week with the two- lap timed trials on Saturday. The two 100-mile qualifying races which will determine the order of the 33-car start- ing field will be held on Sun- day.

Register Off-Road Vehicles Now

California owners of up to one million off-highway ve- hicles which have never been registered were told that they may pay their registration fees between now and July 1 at any Department of Motor Vehicles office.

DMV Director Robert Cozens stressed that formerly exempt off-highway vehicles (OHV's) must register by that date. The effect of 1973 legis- lation on the OHV law was to wipe out virtually all exemp- tions from the registration re- quirement. By July all such vehicles will have to display either regular license plates or an off-highway identifica- tion sticker.

Off-highway vehicles in- clude all classes of race cars, motorcycles, minibikes, trail bikes, snowmobiles, dune buggies, all-terrain vehicles, and similar types. Most farm and special construction vehicles are not subject to registra- tion.

Cozens said the $15 regis- tration fee, good for two years, can be paid in advance with no loss of benefits to the owner. The fee is renewable at mid-year every even num- bered year. Fees paid now will be good through June 30, 1976.

Cozens advised the owners of some 130,000 already regis- tered OHV's that it will be easier for them to renew their

Sups To Study Position In Regional Park Plans

The County Board of Supervisors set St. Valentine's Day as the time to examine the County's role in regional park development.

A special conference has been set for 2 p.m. in the board meeting room on March 14 to consider such questions as:

What would San Diego be like today without Balboa Park or Mission Bay Park?

Should similar outdoor recreational sites be developed elsewhere in the San Diego region for present and future enjoyment?

What role should County government play in preserving ecologically important areas such as lagoons and flood plains?

Can the pattern of urban growth in the San Diego region be shaped and guided by reservation of selected land for park use?

And of keen importance, how do we pay for the development of parks for the San Diego Region?

Since 1967, the County has played a leadership role in implementing the Regional Park Plan, adopted as an element of the 1990 General Plan, prepared in concert with the Comprehensive Planning Organization and the thirteen cities in San Diego County.

Because of its regional, County-wide tax base, and by attracting state and Federal grants-in-aid, the County has been able to create over the past six years, four major park facilities — William Heise Regional Park, near Julian, Dos Picos Regional Park, near Ramona, Potrero Regional Park, near Potrero, and at Monterey Heights School, 7550 Canton dr., Lemon Grove. In addition, San Dieguito, near Rancho Santa Fe, has been enlarged to Regional Park standards.

Sweetwater Included
Currently, parkland acquisition or development is underway for Guajome Regional Park in Oceanside, Los Penasquitos Regional Park, in San Diego, and Sweetwater Regional Park, south of Spring Valley.

Other high priority regional park sites include Agua Hedionda, Batiquitos and San Elijo Lagoons, along the coast, and Lake Calavera, in Carlsbad. Expansion of both the existing El Monte Park, in Lakeside, and Lake Murviesco set St. Valentine's Day as the time to examine the County's role in regional park development.

As envisioned in the Regional Park plan, San Diego County would be served by thirty-nine major park sites by board meeting room on March 14, to meet recreation demands, to preserve unique environmental land forms, and to afford attractive buffer areas within the expanding metropolitan area.

At its March 14 conference, the Board of Supervisors will consider potential financial resources to implement the Regional Park Plan, including Federal revenue sharing, proceeds from the June, 1974 statewide park bond issue (Proposition One), and creation of a non-profit corporation or joint powers authority to raise park development funds through sale of long term bonds.

As with other major issues confronting the Region, members of the Board of Supervisors are encouraging constituents to make known their views on this subject.

Mearl Strackbein

Iowan Buys Local Liquor-Wine Store

Mearl Strackbein, Lowden, Iowa, has purchased George Sperla's Village Liquor and wine store.

The store is at 7779 Broadway near Main street. Sperla had operated the store for seven years after buying it from Charles Montgomery.

Strackbein was in the farm equipment business in Iowa 22 years before coming here. The weather in Iowa made him decide California was the place to live. He travelled over Southern California and chose the San Diego area as that place.

When Village Liquor became available, he immediately rented an apartment nearby.

An ardent basefall fan, the next thing he did was to establish contact with the San Diego Padres. Now he is on the Padres Action Team and his newly acquired store will probably become headquarters locally for Padres information and tickets.

He plans to make some changes in the store. He has already instituted free delivery. He plans to expand the credit card element of the business and is establishing personal credit accounts for those who qualify.

Strackbein will personally manage the store. Sharing the work is a former employee, Jerry Bentrott, who worked for him in Iowa.

Former Village Liquor patrons are invited to revisit the store. "We want as many people as possible to visit us," he said. "This is a beautiful community and we're going to be here a long time. We hope to get to know everybody in the Lemon Grove area," he said.

He said he expects to join one of the local service clubs. It will be the one whose meeting day coincides with his off day.

Joaquin Ching, SV Kiwanis Pancake Flip For Youth Graduates From Sheriff's Academy

A Spring Valley Deputy Sheriff, Joaquin M. Ching, was among those graduating from the San Diego Sheriff's Academy. Graduation ceremonies were held Feb. 22.

Graduates included Deputy Sheriffs, policemen from Escondido, Chula Vista, and National City, two U. S. Marines and a State Parks and Recreation Ranger.

During the months they were at the Sheriff's Academy, the students were subjected to an environment similar to that encountered in military training, to help instill discipline and self discipline in the students.

Such areas as criminal law, search and seizure, community relations, juvenile laws, and how to handle such specific incidents as a battered child, crowd control, mental illness cases, intoxication cases, missing persons, narcotics and felony car stops were stressed.

On the physical side, each student received 100 hours of defensive tactics and physical training. Running, rope climbing, pushups, situps, and other exercises conditioned the students to engage in a mixture of judo, karate, and aikido. Emphasis was also heavy on firearms training, especially use of the police revolver.

In order to get all the classes in, the students spent more than 10 hours a day on campus. As a result, each was awarded 18 units in criminal justice and three units in Spanish by Miramar College.

Drive-in Bank Crush Seen Easing

Drive-in window congestion at the Lemon Grove branch of the Southern California First National bank is scheduled to be eased this year, according to Richard Norquist, branch manager.

Drive-in service has become so popular at the firm's Golden-Imperial facility that back-up traffic is often nearly a block long on the Imperial avenue approach.

Norquist said the firm's La Mesa branch is installing drive-in windows for the first time. That should ease the Lemon Grove situation somewhat, he said.

A branch in Casa de Oro is scheduled to be built before the year's end. That will have drive-in facilities, too. More than a quarter of the bank's drive-in service is from La Mesa and Casa de Oro patrons, Norquist said.

Rancho San Diego, a king-sized development that will eventually have 18,000 homes just east and south of Casa de Oro, will probably have a SC1stNat. facility with drive-in service, Norquist said.

Military engineers are capable of laying pontoon bridges across streams that will support railway trains.

Proceeds from the event will be used by the Kiwanis club to promote the club's youth work; youth organizations; scholarship fund and other youth assistance programs in the community.

General chairman is Del Lake, of Del-Rons Trophy shop. He will be assisted by Former Fire Chief "Pappy"

Pete Wilson Endorses Flournoy for Governor

Hensley. Adolph Helgeson is ticket chairman and Woody Mott is in charge of publicizing the affair.

As usual, the Flip is open to anyone wanting a big, wholesome breakfast while aiding local youth projects.

San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson this week endorsed the gubernatorial candidacy of State Controller Houston L. Flournoy.

Wilson, San Diego's chief executive since 1971, made the announcement Monday appearing with the Controller in a joint press conference in San Diego.

The 40-year-old mayor and former state assemblyman told newsmen, "From years of personal association and observation, I can say that Houston Flournoy will bring to the job of governor a talent for innovation in problem management and solution that is based upon dedication to fundamental Republican principles."

"Hugh Flournoy will bring to the state the energy and vigor of youth, unquestioned integrity, and the moral courage to do what is right, rather than what is popular," Wilson said.

"And he will bring the brains and skill required to translate good intentions into leadership and achievement."

Flournoy, a leading contender for the Republican nomination, said, "I am honored by the enthusiastic support of one of California's most effective and dynamic elected officials."

"Pete's endorsement is certain to make a difference in the months ahead."

"Largely through Pete's efforts to balance the needs of environment and those of uncontrolled growth, San Diego is rapidly becoming a California showcase."

Haff In Huff Over Incompetence

Politicians, with few exceptions, have forfeited their right to office, Democratic candidate for Governor Herb Haff said in a statement released Wednesday.

"Politicians are more interested in their jobs than conveying unpopular truths," Haff said during a San Diego swing to meet with supporters and announce plans to open a local campaign headquarters.

"Because today's problems are a direct result of yesterday's lack of planning, I can say as a member of the general public that we are disgusted with office holders who fail to warn, fail to plan and now ask for promotion to higher office," he said.

"To reward such incompetence is the equivalent of granting political amnesty for crimes against the economy," Haff said. "Our so-called 'leaders' have gotten us into this economic mess and now they want further rewards."

"Every poll shows the public doesn't want anybody identified with yesterday's failures," he said.

With approximately 95 percent of cars in use equipped with one or more emission control systems, vehicle pollution is steadily declining. The replacement of older cars with limited or no controls by newer models assures that this decline would continue for many years even if no further advances in controls were introduced.

Governor Orders 'Job Relief' Action

Governor Reagan has instructed the State's Employment Department to step up its job-finding efforts to counter the increasing number of job losses caused by the energy crisis.

Specifically, the Governor told the Department to:

—Use classified advertisements in newspapers as potential sources of job openings.

—Increase the number of contacts with prospective employers.

—Intensify "job development" efforts for exceptionally qualified job applicants.

—Form a cadre of retired business executives who could help failing businesses.

EDD's field offices will begin immediately to use employer-placed classified want ads as a source of job openings "not only to help jobseekers but also to assist employers in offering our services". Each employer will be contacted in advance before any jobseeker is referred.

"We estimate that this source of job leads alone will result in about 30,000 more jobs in 1974", EDD Director Dwight Geduldig said.

Federal funding for this service and for increased job development activities will be sought, Geduldig said.

In another move related to the energy crisis, Geduldig again called on all employers to list job openings with the nearest EDD field office "to save needless waste of gas by jobseekers and take advantage of the largest one-stop job exchange center in every community."

During 1973, Geduldig said, job placements by EDD totaled 551,000, an increase of 32 percent over 1972.

"When an exceptionally well-qualified job applicant contacts us and we don't have a suitable job opening, our local interviewers call appropriate employers to see if they would be willing to interview the applicant."

Principal Art Thomas Retires After 35 Years

After 35 years with the Lemon Grove School District, William (Art) Thomas, principal of Vista La Mesa Elementary School is retiring. He made the announcement at the District's Board of Trustees' meeting Tuesday night.

Thomas plans on being involved with some classroom activities after his retirement.

"keeping my fingers in the educational pie," he said.

Superintendent Robert Sutton and Asst. Superintendent Paul Reynolds presented an alternative financial projection for 1974-1975. The plans reflect confused new budget information concerning state aid. The Board withheld approval of the budget until the next board meeting.

LG first graders performed above the state mean on the reading and language tests administered last autumn, Jim Justeson reported to the Board.

Amalgamation Asked

But proponents of the Encanto-Lemon Grove Park project asked to be allowed to amalgamate their election with the Lemon Grove one since Lemon Grove residents would have use of the park as well as Encanto residents. If Prop. A passes it would nail down the park in Prop. B as well as the Encanto park.

The County decided to see if Lemon Grove residents would approve two parks. If either Lemon Grove residents or Encanto voters gave less than 50 per cent approval, Prop. A would fail. In that case Prop. B would be still alive. The vote on Prop. B would decide the status of the Berry st. park.

Two Chances

That gives Lemon Grove two swings at the park. It is so simple — and yet so complicated—that County people become a little confused trying to explain it. With the preceding background a simpler explanation would be this:

If more than 50 per cent of Lemon Grove's voters, and more than 50 per cent of Encanto's voters separately approve, two parks will be purchased under Prop. A.

If Prop. A fails and the vote on Prop. B tallies more than 50 per cent of the voter turnout, there will be one park—that will be the Berry st. one. In both Prop. A and Prop. B fail—no park.

The polls Tuesday, seven of them in Lemon Grove and one in Encanto (locations listed with your sample ballot), will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce has endorsed Props. A and B.

Even though the taxpayer has helped prepare his return, he can still affix the label to his State return before mailing it to the Franchise Tax Board to assure proper account identification and a prompt refund, according to Huff.

Taxpayers should also verify that their social security number is correct, the necessary W-2 forms are attached to the face of the return, and that the return is signed.

Insurance Speedy Tax Processing

Tax practitioners and other preparers of tax returns should ask their clients for the State income tax forms booklet they received in the mail and use the pre-addressed label from the face of the booklet to assure faster and more accurate processing, said Martin Huff, Executive Officer of the Franchise Tax Board.

The label, when peeled off the front of the tax package and placed at the top of the 540 form, will prevent errors in name and social security number that could hold up refunds for numerous taxpayers, Huff said.

International rates will rise by 20 percent. Mail rates to Canada and Mexico will be the same as the higher domestic rates in most categories.

Cost of mailing a one-ounce international surface letter will rise from 15 to 18 cents. Air mail letter rates to Western Hemisphere countries from 21 to 26 cents for each half ounce, up to two ounces. Surface and air parcel rates will rise about 15 percent.

Higher operating costs were cited by the Postal Service as the reason for the rate increases, Hale said.

registrations if they wait for expiration notices which will be mailed to them by June, 1974.

Six dollars of the two-year registration fee goes to the State Department of Parks and Recreation for the Off-Highway Vehicle Fund. This fund then is used for acquisition and development of facilities for off-highway vehicles, with local agencies contributing at least 25 percent of the total cost.

Owners of off-highway vehicles not bearing an identification sticker indicating payment of registration fees are subject to fines of up to $50 for the first offense, Cozens said. Fines for subsequent convictions for failure to register the vehicle range from $100 to $250.

Cozens explained that the recent laws requiring the registration of off-highway vehicles came about because of the needs for environmental protection and better law enforcement. Identification of OHVs aids law enforcement agencies in tracing stolen vehicles and citing flagrant violators of property rights and the environment.

Homeowners' and Veterans' Exemptions can potentially save the individual property owner a considerable amount on next year's taxes, Williams said. On a $30,000 ($7,500 assessed value) home with a $10 a hundred of assessed value as tax rate, the Homeowners' Exemption could save the owner $175 on his property taxes.

The Homeowners' Exemption, which amounts to $1,750 assessed value ($7,000 market value), is applicable only to a qualified owner or buyer-occupied dwelling constituting the claimant's principal place of residence on March 1st of the year the exemption is claimed. As well, the owner of a multiple-family dwelling, such as a triplex, four-unit flat, or an apartment house containing three or more units, can claim a Homeowners' Exemption on the dwelling unit occupied by the owner as his principal place of residence on March 1 of this year.

If Forms Fail To Come

The claim forms are scheduled to be delivered to the property owner's mailing address during the first week in March. "Those who believe they qualify under the law, but have not received a form by March 10, should phone our special number, 233-5451, for information," Williams said. "The law places full responsibility upon the property owner to request and file the claim. However, this office is taking every step possible to notify potential qualifiers." Williams urged qualified residents to complete and mail the claim form back in the return envelope right away to avoid any delays in processing their exemption. The legal deadline for filing for both the Homeowners' and Veterans' Exemptions is 5 p.m., April 15.

Business Personal Property Statements will go to various business enterprises for declaration of inventory and personal property values. Business concerns are now entitled to a 50% exemption on inventories, but must report their full inventory to the Assessor, who will then calculate the exemption. The Landlord Statements will be mailed to owners of rental properties to report their personal property. Both the Landlord and Business Statements must be filed by April 1.

Death Ends Speed Chase

A Spring Valley motorcyclist Robert Chilton, was killed in a high speed chase with a sheriff's deputy, Feb. 19.

The chase began, according to officers, near Campo rd., where Chilton, 21, was observed going nearly 65 m.p.h. in a 25 m.p.h. zone. The chase ended, 1½ miles later when Chilton's vehicle went out of control.

After travelling 75 feet in the air, Chilton was pinned under his cycle and pronounced dead at the scene.

"John R. McMillan, chairman and chief executive officer, said the 1973 results reflect substantial foreign sales of petroleum products by Western Crude in the fourth quarter. Gas Prices, Urban Sprawl

Sell Mass Transit Idea

Mass transit will be the solution when gas prices and urban sprawl eliminate the automobile, Dick Brown County Supervisor said at a meeting, Feb. 22.

Speaking to the county section of the League of California Cities, Brown praised the County Planning Organization for their study of regional mass transit possibilities.

"I've got around to see some of the things being done around the country and CPO is working with information and facts way ahead of anything I've seen."

Brown urged officials at the meeting to take an active part in decisions on public transportation. Brown said, "These decisions are going to have more to do with the cost of government and with the quality of life in this region than anything we intend to do in the next few years."

Richard T. Silberman, chairman of the San Diego Transit Corp. predicted the future transit system would be "a light rail, elevated system."

Highway Construction

Costs Soar 50 Per Cent

The cost of building California's highways has risen by over 50% since 1968, members of the Highway Commission were told this week.

And the California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) says the costs will rise even faster next year, as the full effects of rises in materials and wages of construction workers (about one fourth), equipment rental (another fourth), and materials and supplies, including fuel (about half). Thus, even though construction wages increased more rapidly in the early 1970's than other incomes, they did not have as great an effect on construction costs as did rises in materials and supply costs.

There are three major factors which govern the cost of construction of major transportation projects. These are wages of construction workers (about one fourth), equipment rental (another fourth), and materials and supplies, including fuel (about half).
